Dear Sherry:

I have your letter of 7 December and want to thank you very much for your expression of support.

It is gratifying to get your kind comments about my work here and I appreciate your thoughtfulness in writing to me as you did.

With kindest regards,

Sincerely,

Dear Sir:

The Junior Class of Mount Assisi Academy has been assigned a letter writing project this year. It is of great value to everyone to learn how to write properly. By this project we have been given this opportunity.

It gives me great pleasure to congratulate you on your recent appointment by the newly elected President of the United States, to the office of Director of the Central Intelligence, the position which you now occupy. This proves to the American people what great faith we have in your judgment and how well you carry out the work of your department. You have certainly worked hard, and will be remembered forever in the hearts of the American people.

I would consider it a great honor if you would favor me with a reply to this letter. It would be of great help in making my project more complete and interesting.

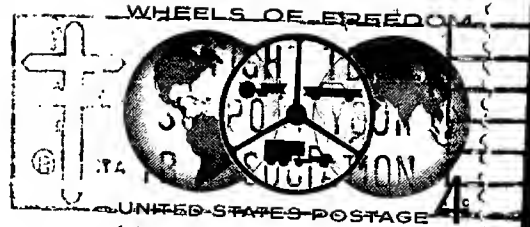

Thank you for your time and kind consideration.

Respectfully yours,

Sherry Golden
